Create a 30-second fast-paced cinematic Japanese anime cooking video showing the preparation of authentic chicken dum biryani, entirely from the text description below.

IMPORTANT: Do not display, recreate, trace, reference, or imitate any storyboard, sketch, reference image, panel, annotation, or source material. Generate only original anime-style animation.

STYLE

High-quality Japanese anime film style, cinematic summer lighting, ultra-detailed food textures, realistic cooking physics, visible steam and moisture, shallow depth of field, macro close-ups, smooth camera movement, warm Indian home kitchen atmosphere. Fast rhythmic editing with natural match cuts based on movement, shape, texture, and composition.

TIMELINE

0–2.5s — Marinate Chicken
Close-up of hands rubbing thick yogurt, red chili, turmeric, and crushed ginger-garlic into bone-in chicken pieces in a steel bowl. The marinade clings and coats every crease. Crisp, rhythmic squeezes.

2.5–5s — Fry Onions
Quick match cuts: thin onion slices drop into hot ghee, swirl, and darken from pale gold to deep crisp brown. Show realistic bubbling and the onions lifted out, glistening, onto a plate.

5–7.5s — Sear the Masala
Lower the marinated chicken into a heavy copper handi. Intense sizzling surrounds the pieces as the masala darkens and oil separates at the edges. Warm cinematic lighting and detailed movement of the bubbling gravy.

7.5–9.5s — Boil Basmati
Long basmati grains tumble into salted boiling water with whole cardamom, cloves, and bay leaf. The grains lengthen and turn opaque white as a slotted spoon lifts them, dripping.

9.5–12s — Layer the Rice
The parboiled rice falls in a soft white layer over the chicken masala. A second layer follows, with fried onions, fresh mint, and coriander scattered between them. Layers build cleanly in the handi.

12–14s — Saffron & Ghee
Saffron milk is drizzled over the top, spreading in vivid orange streaks through the white grains, followed by a thin stream of melted ghee that soaks in while steam rises.

14–16.5s — Seal the Pot
Hands press a rope of soft wheat dough around the rim and set the heavy lid firmly in place, sealing every gap. Thumbs crimp the dough neatly along the edge.

16.5–19s — Dum Over Coals
The sealed handi rests over low glowing coals with embers on the lid. Small wisps of steam escape one point of the seal while the dough slowly browns and hardens. No stirring.

19–21s — Crack the Seal
A knife taps along the baked dough ring until it cracks and flakes away. Hands lift the heavy lid and a thick column of fragrant steam billows upward, revealing saffron-streaked rice.

21–24s — Serve
A large spoon digs straight down and lifts out a tall portion, showing clean layers of white and saffron rice with tender chicken below. It slides onto a brass plate as grains fall naturally.

24–26s — Final Close-Up
The served biryani rests on the counter. Individual long grains glisten with ghee, tender chicken falls gently from the bone, and fried onions sit on top. Slow cinematic push-in.

26–30s — Hero Reveal
Present the finished biryani in the copper handi on a carved wooden surface beside a small bowl of raita. Saffron rice, tender chicken, crisp onions, and fresh mint. Steam rises as the camera slowly arcs around the handi for a beautiful anime-food-film ending.

AUDIO

Bright 1980s-inspired Bollywood disco-funk instrumental, 110–120 BPM, with subtle sitar and light tabla percussion. Synchronize realistic ASMR cooking sounds: spice grinding, knife slicing, onion sizzle, bubbling masala, rice pouring, ghee drizzle, dough seal cracking, steam, and a soft metal spoon clink.

End with one delicate brass bell tone during the final reveal.

NEGATIVE

No storyboard, reference image, sketch, panels, borders, numbers, arrows, annotations, subtitles, captions, UI, logos, or text overlays. No unrelated ingredients or dishes. Chicken dum biryani only. Keep the food, hands, utensils, lighting, and environment visually consistent throughout.
