SUBJECTS
Pastry Chef: adult, wearing a chef uniform, positioned on the ground level, using a large stainless steel cake spatula to chase along the edge of the countertop, escalating from controlled swings to fully uncontrolled strikes (character reference: attached image 1, the chef sheet)
Cockroach: small-sized, always moving on the countertop, low-position rapid crawling, advancing unidirectionally to the right along the countertop while performing left-right dodges and abrupt stops with direction changes (character reference: attached image 2, the cockroach sheet)
ENVIRONMENT
Home kitchen, continuous long countertop with clear depth
Common kitchen objects distributed across the countertop (bowls, plates, whisk, measuring cups, etc.)
Window is closed
STYLE
Realistic 3D animation, strong physical feedback
CAMERA DETAILS
POV is a close-following rear perspective behind the cockroach, low angle moving forward along the countertop; attacks primarily press in from above and from the sides, with only one brief frontal confrontation
Timeline
0:00-0:02:
Medium shot, 35mm, slow push-in. The chef stands on the left side of the countertop, lightly whistling while organizing, mouth movement perfectly synchronized with the whistling sound (lip-sync); countertop objects are neatly arranged; the cockroach crawls in the corner making subtle noise, the chef gradually stops and locks onto the target.
SFX: whistling (only present in this phase), subtle crawling
0:02-0:04:
Low-angle tracking shot, 28mm, forward movement. The cockroach accelerates to the right along the countertop and begins dodging; the chef lunges forward and starts striking, the whistling sound completely stops the moment the action begins; the first hit strikes the countertop edge, causing objects to shift from vibration.

SFX: footsteps, heavy metal impact
0:04-0:10:
POV shot, 20mm, close-follow high-speed forward movement. The camera continuously advances without looking back; the cockroach performs serpentine dodging; the chef's attacks press in from above and the sides, each strike accidentally and realistically hitting objects along the way, gradually creating and maintaining a chaotic state.
SFX: continuous heavy impacts, object collisions
0:10-0:12:
POV slows down. A window appears ahead; the cockroach stops on the countertop inside the window, turns to face the chef directly, shows a smug smile and makes a provocative gesture.
SFX: brief pause
0:12-0:14:
Medium shot push-in. The chef throws the spatula toward the cockroach; after release, no tool remains in hand; the spatula misses and hits the window, shattering the glass; the cockroach continuously jumps out through the broken opening.
SFX: air slice, glass shatter
0:14-0:15:
Wide static shot. The chef's hands are empty, turns to see the entire countertop in complete chaos (all struck objects remain scattered, overturned, and dirty), brief pause followed by a breakdown scream.
SFX: silence → breakdown scream
