Create a 30-second, 1080p ultra-realistic emotional live-action scene inside a rooftop restaurant in Seoul on a rainy evening.

A young Korean woman in her early 20s, with long black hair, wearing a fitted pastel-green crop top, blue denim shorts, white sneakers and a delicate silver necklace, arrives to meet her boyfriend. She discovers him kissing another woman beside a rain-covered window.

She freezes in disbelief as tears slowly roll down her cheeks. She approaches him and asks through a trembling voice, “Why would you do this to me?” He nervously tries to explain, but she whispers, “I trusted you.”

Overwhelmed by betrayal, she suddenly slaps him once across the cheek. He freezes in shock as she stands there crying, her hand trembling. She looks at him one final time, shakes her head in heartbreak and walks toward the exit. He takes a step after her but stops. She leaves into the rain while the camera remains inside, capturing him standing motionless.

STYLE: Photorealistic live-action, natural handheld camera, realistic skin texture, authentic tears, subtle facial expressions, warm restaurant lights contrasting with cool rainy city lights, shallow depth of field, 24fps.

AUDIO: Rain, restaurant ambience, footsteps, trembling dialogue and one sharp slap. No music or narration.

NEGATIVE: Fake tears, exaggerated acting, screaming, repeated violence, distorted faces, identity drift, changing outfits, subtitles, logos or watermark.
